

Focus Group Camera Club

February 8, 2010 - Meeting Minutes

Club President Kathy Benham called the FGCC meeting to order at 7:40 PM with about 35 members, spouses and guests in attendance.

Because our usual meeting room at the Science Museum of Virginia was not available, we met in the IMAX Theatre.

Club Business:

Membership Committee

Committee Chair Ken Hitchens welcomed the many guests visiting, including the enthusiastic Tim Slaven Fan Club.

Club Business:

Current Projects

Exhibitions Committee Chair Al Warfield announced that the next exhibit, at Richmond Camera on Patterson Avenue, will consist of 9 to 11 photographs, and will be hung on March 1. Submissions should be delivered to Al or to Richmond Camera by February 28th.

Linda & Al Warfield announced a joint exhibit at St. Paul's Church, to open on First Friday, April 1. Al told the group that the exhibit space includes 6 huge panels in a large well-lighted room. Wine will be served at the opening!

Field Trips Committee Chair Linda Warfield announced the next group shoot would be at the Pipeline where the Great Blue Herons are getting their nests in order. That trip is scheduled for Saturday morning, Feb. 19.

A group of about 25 members and spouses enjoyed gathering for pizza at Cindy & Charles Krumbein's home in January to further consider the Sally Mann exhibition at the Virginia Museum of Fine

Club Business:

Programs

Committee Chair John Garofalo reminded everyone of the exhibition of the remarkable work of David Everette at the UNOS Gallery. It will remain open until February 26th. David will present a program at our March meeting. April's program is unscheduled at the moment, but May's program will show the images taken by members of the Brown

Bag project. In June we will have Critique Night. Charlottesville photographer Victoria Dye will try once more to present her program in December 2011. We hope that she will not be snowed out next time.